

A biopsy of a suspicious skin lesion on the patient's back was performed. Histopathology confirmed the diagnosis of basal cell carcinoma (BCC), the most common form of skin cancer. Mohs micrographic surgery is recommended for removal to ensure clear margins.