

Acute otitis media is diagnosed in a toddler presenting with ear pain and fever. Otoscopy shows a bulging and erythematous tympanic membrane. Due to the child's age and symptom severity, a course of amoxicillin is prescribed.