

This document outlines the protocol for cardiac catheterization in a patient with suspected severe aortic stenosis. The procedure aims to measure pressure gradients across the aortic valve and visualize the coronary arteries to assess for concurrent disease before considering valve replacement surgery.