

An electroencephalogram (EEG) was performed to evaluate a patient experiencing focal seizures. The EEG showed abnormal epileptiform discharges originating from the left temporal lobe. The patient will be started on an anti-epileptic drug, levetiracetam, to control seizure activity.